

ASU has huge win for the airline industry: Dnata withdraw AHSA application

This morning lawyers for Dnata wrote to the Fair Work Commission and withdrew the application for the AHSA EBA. This is a major victory not only for the entire Dnata workforce but for the entire aviation industry.

This major win is testament to the strong collective rejection of the company's underhanded tactics by each and every union member at Dnata and the broader support received from ASU members across the industry.

This means that Dnata must now bargain in good faith to replace the current Dnata EBA's that are up for negotiation right now. They will no longer be able to have a sub-standard EBA hanging over their employees heads as a threat to wages, conditions and job security.

The ASU will always stand up and fight against unscrupulous employers that target employees' terms and conditions of employment and try to avoid the Fair Work Act and Modern Award conditions. The ASU will not allow employers such as Dnata or AeroCare to threaten airline employees' livelihoods.

As a result of this development the ASU has called off Monday's 15 May 2017 rally at the Fair Work Commission in Melbourne and we thank all ASU members for their support. (see attached cancellation of FWC hearing)
